

Appln. No. 09/815,441
Amendment Dated: January 5, 2004
Reply to Office Action of August 5, 2003

Amendments to the Specification:

Please replace the abstract with the following:

AI
“A method and apparatus to perform customized error handling is described. For example, this method makes it possible to intercept and replace an error code generated by an application. Error messages, such as third party error messages, can be replaced. The application which generates the error message may or may not be updated. The files used by that application may or may not be updated.”
